SENIOR CLASS SPEAKER

The winner of the Distinguished Senior Award has performed at an exceptional level in academics and has demonstrated exemplary leadership in the Carthage community and beyond. Faculty and seniors were asked to nominate graduating seniors for this award, and nominees then were required to submit a resumé and a personal statement. A group of faculty and staff reviewed the submissions, deliberated, and chose the winner.

As the recipient of the Distinguished Senior Award, Grace Chapa '24 will give the senior class address.

Nominated by faculty members from three different academic departments, Grace graduates from Carthage with a major in Spanish and a minor in secondary education. A campus job as office manager for the Urban Teacher Preparation Program fueled her passion as an educator.

Grace served on the executive board of the Mi Gente student organization and taught salsa and bachata dance classes in the community. She was principal French horn for the Carthage Wind Orchestra, one of several instrumental ensembles in which Grace performed.

This has been an eventful year for Grace, who received one of the College's inaugural Martin Luther King Jr. Legacy Awards in January and won the Miss Kenosha scholarship pageant in February. Her Miss Kenosha service initiative centers on college accessibility. Inspired by her own growth as a first-generation college student, Grace hopes to convince students "who did not think they were smart enough, rich enough, or privileged enough to attend university ... that they belong in higher education."

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI AWARD

Evelyn Ellenberger
Bennett '85

Carthage presents the 2024 Distinguished Alumni Award to Evelyn Ellenberger Bennett '85. Known by the nickname “Evie,” Mrs. Bennett thrived in a 31-year career at William Frick and Company — the last eight as co-owner and vice president. Based in Libertyville, Illinois, the business makes safety markers and RFID tags.

Unfazed by a heavily male customer base, she helped secure deals with Fortune 500 companies. Even as it outgrew the “small business” label, Mrs. Bennett preserved the family atmosphere, earning the firm a place on many “Best Places to Work” lists.

Maintaining strong ties to her alma mater, she served on the College’s career services advisory board and more recently joined the President’s Leadership Council. In her honor, longtime business partner Jeff Brandt established the Evelyn K. Bennett Scholarship Fund at Carthage.

Now retired, Mrs. Bennett lives with her husband, Jim '85, in Lake Forest, Illinois, and the couple have an adult daughter. Besides service through her church, she raises funds that provide college scholarships for students in low-income North Chicago, as well as scooters for disabled veterans.

HONORARY DEGREE

Aldo Madrigano

Carthage presents an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree to Aldo Madrigano.

Learning and perfecting his family’s business niche, beverage distribution, Mr. Madrigano enjoyed an extremely successful career. As CEO and co-owner of Beer Capitol Distributing Inc., he used efficient operations and strategic mergers to make it the largest beer distributor in Wisconsin.

The work brought Mr. Madrigano a variety of accolades, including six Miller High Life Achievement Awards and Marquette University’s Family Business Award. He has served on the boards of numerous trade associations, charitable nonprofits, and economic development groups.

In retirement, he and his wife, Dawn, split time between Las Vegas and a summer home in Minocqua, Wisconsin. Their philanthropy supports the University of Nevada-Las Vegas and Carthage, heeding a lesson from Mr. Madrigano’s generous parents: that higher education is the heart of any city.

Part of a family of dedicated Carthaginians, Mr. Madrigano attended the College in 1981-82 before leaving to enter the business world. He joked that graduation day has simply arrived a bit later than expected.

FACULTY SPEAKER

The Class of 2024 selected Rebecca Swambar, an assistant professor and clinical coordinator in the Nursing Department, to deliver the faculty address.

Guided by the “strong belief that compassion is the foundation of great nursing practice,” Prof. Swambar began teaching at Carthage in 2021 and joined the full-time faculty the following year. This year’s graduating seniors praised her as a wise, patient, and supportive “nursing mother” who goes the extra mile to arrange clinical placements that match students’ specific professional interests.

Prof. Swambar draws from more than 20 years of combined field experience, primarily as an emergency room nurse but also in critical care, pediatric, and hospice settings. She began her healthcare career as a licensed EMT (emergency medical technician) at age 18 and then became a paramedic at 22.

She has a master’s degree in nursing education from Olivet Nazarene University in Bourbonnais, Illinois. Progressing toward a doctorate, Prof. Swambar is on pace to graduate in 2025.

SYMBOLS, TRADITIONS, AND REGALIA

The Commencement procession at Carthage is led by the crucifer, symbolizing the centrality of the Christian faith to the College as a community of faith and a community of learning. Following the crucifer is the macebearer, one of the longest-serving faculty members, who symbolizes the authority of the faculty to approve the awarding of degrees.

Eight banners are placed alongside the stage. Four represent the academic divisions at Carthage:

- Division of Arts and Humanities
- Division of Natural and Social Sciences
- Division of Professional Studies
- School of Business and Economics

Four other banners represent the communities in which the College has made its home over the years:

- Hillsboro, Ill. (1847-1852)
- Springfield, Ill. (1852-1869)
- Carthage, Ill. (1870-1964)
- Kenosha, Wis. (1962-present)

Two of the longest-serving faculty members at Carthage serve as marshals during the procession. They lead the faculty, who dress in traditional academic attire that principally consists of a cap, gown, and hood. The cap worn almost universally in academic processions is the Oxford cap, better known as the mortarboard. Poetry teaches us that the cap of scholarship is square to symbolize a book. It is always black. A different style, called the Cambridge cap, resembles a large beret.

The tradition of wearing a dark robe in academic processions is thought to have arisen from the clerical practice of wearing a cape or mantle in religious processions during the 12th and 13th centuries. In recent years, however, a number of universities have incorporated other hues that signify the schools' traditional colors. The master's gown has long, pointed, closed sleeves. The traditional doctoral gown is faced down the front and across the sleeves with velvet in a color representing the discipline of the degree recipient.

The academic hoods, worn around the neck and down the back of the gown, are lined with the official colors of the college or university conferring the degree. The color of the binding or edging of the hood usually represents the discipline: Arts, Letters, and Humanities – White; Business and Commerce – Olive; Economics – Drab or Copper; Education – Light Blue or Sage Green; Engineering – Orange; Fine Arts – Brown; Music – Pink; Philosophy – Dark Blue; Physical Education – Sage Green; Science – Golden Yellow; Social Science – Cream; Social Work – Citron; and Theology – Scarlet.

Placed on the stage at Commencement, the Key of Knowledge has symbolized the transfer of leadership from the graduating class to the rising seniors since 1927.
